

FOR THE EXCLUSIVE USE OF SPARTAMIAN@AROMATECH.FR

From the Orlando Business Journal:

<http://www.bizjournals.com/orlando/news/2016/10/24/tasty-move-aromatech-flavorings-to-expand-in.html>

Tasty move: Aromatech Flavorings to expand in Orlando, create jobs

Oct 24, 2016, 1:23pm EDT

This food flavoring design and production firm is getting a bigger taste of Orlando.

France-based Aromatech Flavorings Inc. moved into a much larger location in Orlando to expand its services, and the deal is creating nearly a dozen new jobs.

Aromatech, which first came to Orlando in 2007 to expand its distribution coverage, has moved from its local 1,800-square-foot office at 5770 Hoffner Ave. to a new 10,000-square-foot location at 7001 McCoy Road, Unit 200.

"We needed more space because of market demand," David Pujol, managing director for Aromatech USA, told Orlando Business Journal. "We have grown and what we were doing before was distribution for our parent company, but we now are producing those flavors in the United States."

The new space will house a research and development lab, plus a production plant for natural and organic food flavors.

The new facility in Orlando will call for 10 new workers, but details on how much those jobs pay were not shared. Worldwide, Aromatech has more than 100 employees and about 10 in Orlando.

Aromatech was founded in 1987. The company develops and sells flavors used in drinks, dairy products, snacks, pastries and more.

Matthew Richardson

Reporter

Orlando Business Journal

GETTY IMAGES (ZIMMYTWS)

As a food flavoring firm expands in Orlando, so does its employment.